Hi Dang

All drainage is already in place, has been for years. There is a drain either side of driveway, drain behind shed that stops excess water going to shed & house.

The driveway way will be done with red gravel that will compact better than blue metal. This only has to be done from large shed to carport site
There will be no vegetation clearance as the land cut out was there before I brought the block 16/17 years ago
Any other questions please let me know

Cheers
Craig
